Dedication

On May 6th, the Democratic race for the Presidential nomination came to a close. With a major double-digit loss in North Carolina and a near loss in the Indiana Primary, Senator Hillary Clinton's chances of sealing the nomination are all but impossible. The pundits have declared the race decided, and Senator Clinton is expected to announce the end of her campaign in the coming weeks. Nearly four months have passed since Washington and Lee's centennial Mock Convention made its 24th prediction, a decision based on countless hours of political research undertaken by hundreds of members of the student body. Although incorrect, the closeness of our numbers is reflective of what will certainly go down in history as the longest and most unpredictable primary race in the history of Presidential politics.

Despite this, members of the Washington and Lee community have much to be proud of from the Mock Convention. The Centennial Convention enjoyed coverage from over 100 media outlets, from local network affiliates to the New York Times. Our alumni support base has grown to record numbers, and their generosity has set the bar for future Conventions. Over 95% of the undergraduate student body partipated, making this the most widely participated event in campus history. That said, I would like to thank all of the administrators, faculty members, and of course, the students that made this event such a memorable success. On behalf of the Mock Convention, I would like to thank the Calyx for dedicating the 2008 issue to the Centennial Democratic Mock Convention.

President's Letter

A century ago, then Washington and Lee University President George Hutcheson Denny provided a statement for the 1908 Calyx concerning the future of the University. He humbly acknowledged that he did not have the prophetic vision necessary to forecast with any degree of accuracy. But he did sound a theme familiar to all associated with this venerable institution: We shall continue to reverence and cherish the pastBut we shall also reverence our future. We shall undertake to lay large plans for the future.

As you look through the 2008 Calyx, you will see elements of our past and our future coming together in the everyday flow of the lives of our students. In 1908, as today, Fancy Dress was observed and the Mock Convention held the attention of the political world. Students were admitted to Phi Beta Kappa, legendary faculty taught students in small classes, coaches and athletes competed against arch-rivals, the town of Lexington was a part of students lives, and young members of the student body destined to be leaders in society developed friendships that would last a lifetime. What strikes me today, one hundred years removed from the time of President Denny, is the constancy of the themes and the images, the Universitys enduring character embodied by those who have the privilege to be here.

As special note to our graduating seniors, I know youll cherish this Calyx that chronicles your time at Washington and Lee and I wish you the best as you move into the next phase of your life. You should know that your individual contributions are greatly appreciated. As Washington and Lee has left its mark on you, so have you made your mark on this institution. It is better because of your time here, and I hope you take with you a commitment to continue making this a better place. Return to campus often and during your time away, pick up the Calyx to remind yourselves of the times you had, the friends you made, and the institution that helped make you who you are.

Like President Denny, I cannot see the future with any prophetic vision except to make this prediction. In the years to come, you will look back upon these times at Washington and Lee as nearly perfect, just as you know that the University will become better with each passing day.

In this 111th volume of the Calyx we have tried to represent the various aspects of student life at W&L. We are aware of the book's many shortcomings but hope that it may be a source of enjoyment to you in the future, as you sift through its pages and recall your happiest days at Washington and Lee.

Sifting through a century's worth of yearbooks archived in the Calyx office, we came across a message from President Gaines to the graduates of 1948. His words were too poigant to ignore and too eloquent to rephrase. His remarks capture our hope for this book and our well wishes to the Class of 2008.

To the Class of 2008

"Through the coming years this volume, I am confident, will mean more and more to you, a kind of textbook for many sessions of sweet silent thought. I hope that these pages will enrich you with happy memory, sustain you with revival of friendship and a sense of its power, embolden you again with inspiration and faith. Thank you for the compliment you paid this university by electing it as your Alma Mater, and I assure you that we will follow you with pride and with affection."

Message to the class of 1948 from President Francis P. Gaines

Class of 2008

Oh seniors...

On September 3rd, 2004, we came to Lexington. On June 5th, 2008, we left it. In four years we've created some of the best memories of our lives. From the Colonnade to Windfall Hill, Wilson Field to the Lenfest Center, every waking moment here has been ripe with opportunity. And now that we're on the verge of graduating, I remembered a quote I heard during freshman year:

> You have four years to be irresponsible here. Relax. Work is for people with jobs. You'll never remember class time, but you'll remember time you wasted hanging out with your friends. So, stay out late. Go out on a Tuesday with your friends when you have a paper due Wednesday. Spend money you don't have. Drink 'til sunrise. The work never ends, but college does... -Tom Petty Life after college is sure to be a wild ride. So congratulations on making it through, and remember, the best is still yet to come.

Juniors approached the new year at Washington and Lee with excitement, finally having reached the status of upperclassmen. Many returned to campus even before Orientation Week to move into houses passed down to them by previous students. One of the perks of reaching junior year was the priviledge of living off campus for the first time, and finaly having their own place in town or in the country provided a homebase for plenty of memorable moments. Another great part of being a junior was the security of knowing which field of study they wanted to pursue. And juniors rounded out their overall experience with Mock Convention's 100th Anniversary celebration, which allowed them to have fun by getting involved and planning state events. Now that the year has come to an end, they will miss their friends and classmates who are graduating, but look forward to having their own senior year memories to make.

"I get by with a little help from my friends."

And so we're back for round 2...

After a (too short) summer break, September saw the Class of 2010 return to Lexington and their beloved W&L for another shot at success. Success in the classroom, on the sports field, with the opposite gender, and, of course, the social scene. With memories from freshman year still fresh in their minds, these wise fools set out, having learned from their first year experiences, to make this year one to remember. Those who missed the opportunity to pledge during their first year were given a second shot at Greek life. And with another year of experience in their belts, some rose in the ranks of their extracurricular activities, joining executive boards and running for offices. And still more honed in on which course of study to follow, ultimately declaring a major at the end of the year. Whatever they did, every moment was a photo opportunity. We've tried to offer a sample of those instances in the following pages. Our wish is that they truthfully recount some of your best days and fondest memories at W&L.

Natty

The Class of 2011 arrived at W&L on September 1, 2007, having graduated with honors from their individual high schools, nervous and excited about the enormous new turn their lives were taking. Nine months later, as they prepare to leave the campus for the last time as freshmen, they have a lot of memories to look back on. They have made new friendships, some of which will last for the rest of their lives. Many of them have joined W&L's famous Greek system. Most have made decisions about the academic area(s) of study that they will be focusing on for the next three years. Most of all, they have, like every class before them, been entrenched in the unique culture of this University and come out decidedly dedicated to and truly touched by this place that students have come to love for over 250 years.
I hope these pages bring back fond memories for those who are revisiting Freshman year 2007-2008 five months later or fifty years later. However long it's been, enjoy. You were lucky enough to live this.

Faculty and Staff

As a small liberal arts college, Washington and Lee is a people-driven institution. Thanks to a close ratio of 10:1, students and faculty at W&L are able to build strong relationships both in the class room and beyond campus. It is not uncommon to hear of a class meeting their teacher for dinner and discussion at The Palms or to find adventurous professors leading a spring term class across the world for an intensive course abroad. Whether a freshman sampling the offerings of several departments at once or a senior spending hours with a trusted thesis advisor, all students at W&L eventually come to find and cherish that favorite teacher.

Baseball

Over the last decade, W&L baseball has achieved its most consistent stretch of successes. The 2008 campaign was no exception, as the Generals registered a 22-12 mark and recorded their 10th-straight winning season. The squad also posted 20 or more wins for the sixth time in the last 10 years and made their sixth-consecutive appearance in the ODAC Tournament.

The Blue and White opened the season with a road stretch to Georgia during February Break. The Generals returned to Lexington with a 2-2 record, racking up a pair of wins over Oglethorpe to start the season before dropping two close games to Emory (6-8) and Piedmont (9-10).

Following the season-opening road swing, W&L hosted eight-straight home contests and won each. The streak was highlighted by a pair of ODAC wins over Emory & Henry (12-0; 18-0), which saw the W&L Head Coach Jeff Stickley notch his 300th career victory at W&L.

W&L extended its streak to nine games as it topped Virginia Wesleyan, 6-5, in an exciting 16-inning contest in Virginia Beach, Va. The streak ended in the nightcap with the Generals falling, 11-1, but they rallied in the following weeks, picking up single wins over league-leading Lynchburg and Roanoke. Despite dropping a doubleheader to Guilford before heading into the exam break, the squad proceeded to close out the regular season by winning four of their final six contests to secure the fifth seed in the 2008 ODAC Tournament.

The Generals opened the tournament with a 15-4 rout of second-seeded Virginia Wesleyan, but then lost to Randolph-Macon, 13-3, the following evening to send the team into an elimination contest with Lynchburg. In their second extra-inning contest of the season, the Blue and White saw their season come to an end as the Hornets toppled W&L, 7-6, in 12 innings.

"For many players on the team, including myself, the 2008 baseball season represented one of the most profoundly fun experiences of my life. We pulled out a 16 inning nail biter, won games against several quality opponents, and listened to an more R. Kelly and Ashlee Simpson than any other W&L varsity team." -Tim Livingston '08

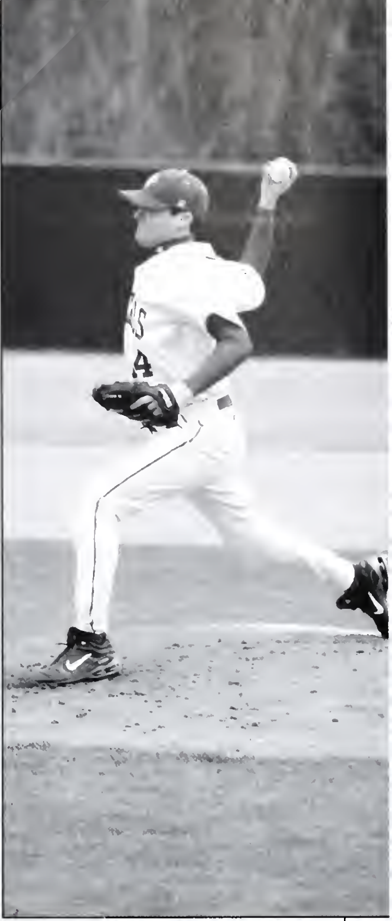
Captains: Tim Livingston
James Madden
Steve Marcott

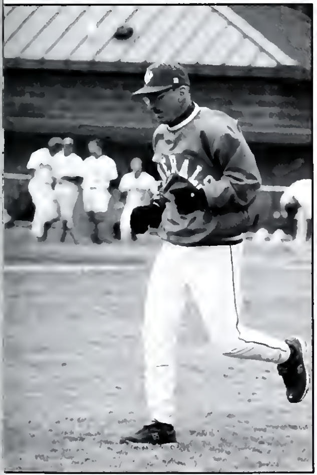
With the end of the season, the individual accolades began to trickle in. nior centerfielder Terrence McKelvey and sophomore catcher Will Lewis were oth named First Team All-ODAC, while senior rightfielder James Madden was a second-team selection and sophomore first baseman Hunter Serenbetz (tamford, Conn.) was an honorable-mention pick. Additionally, Madden was amed the ODAC Scholar-Athlete of the Year for baseball and senior catcher an Harris was named to the All-ODAC Sportsmanship Team.

Madden added to his career achievements by being selected to the oSIDA ESPN The Magazine College Division Academic All-District III Baseball scond team, while McKelvey was recognized for his stellar season with Second eam All-Region honors and a place on the Gold Glove First Team.

McKelvey led the Generals from the plate with a .407 batting average and a am-high 57 hits (57-140), totaling six doubles, a school-record seven triples ad a team-high five homeruns. He also added 28 RBI and had a .657 slugging ercentage. Madden also had a strong season, owning a .341 batting average (5-132), racking up a team-best 13 doubles, a school-record seven triples and ree homeruns, along with 36 RBI. Madden concludes his career as W&Ls allme leader in triples (16).

Madden was part of an eight-member senior class--one of the largest in ickleys tenure. There is no question that it will be challenge to replace them, ut with McKelvey and Lewis headlining the returnees in 2009, successes hould continue to be a constant for the program.





Washington and Lee Head Coach Adam Hutchinson knew he had something to build on following an 11-14 season in 2006-07. The Generals were coming off their best season in 16 years and returned four starters, including senior forwards Greg Bienemann (Chatham, N.J.) and Femi Kusimo (Cross Lanes, W.Va.).

His instincts were correct as an experienced roster of two seniors, six juniors, four sophomores and four freshmen helped lead W&L to a 15-11 overall record and an 11-7 mark in the ODAC. It was the Generals most overall wins since 1990 and most ODAC wins since 1982. W&L also earned the fifth seed for the conference tournament, the programs highest seeding since 1991.

As exciting as the Generals season became, the start was far more disappointing. Excitement was riding high in early November but some disappointing early performances saw W&L begin the season 0-3 with three losses by five points or less. However, the Generals experience paid off and things started to turn around with a 70-52 win over Dickinson in the teams first home game. Momentum was also gained with a 77-75 overtime victory over Randolph-Macon the next time out. The win was a landmark victory for the Generals, who had not defeated the Yellow Jackets since 1977 -- a string of 43-straight losses. A loss to Virginia Wesleyan followed, but W&L then reeled off four-straight wins following the holiday break to improved to 5-4 overall.

The Generals then fell to Roanoke at home, 71-64, but went on to reel off six-straight wins, the programs longest winning streak since 1989. Included in the string of wins were W&Ls first win at Emory & Henry in 10 years, the first win over Hampden-Sydney in 10 years and the Generals capped the streak with their first win at Roanoke (67-59 OT) in 19 years, avenging the only loss that prevented an 11-game winning streak.

The ODAC Tournament brought one more matchup with Roanoke in Salem, but despite a valiant effort from the Generals, the Maroons pulled away late for a 76-66 win.

Hutchinson was named the ODAC Coach of the Year just four years after W&L went 2-23 overall and 0-18 in the conference. The years that followed saw Hutchinson guide W&L to a better record each year. He was W&Ls first ODAC Coach of the Year since Verne Canfield garnered the honor in 1989.

The team huddles before their first game against Lynchburg.

"The players with the most losses from the drills that week were designated for locker room or gym duty. One day we walk in and everyone but the starters was on the cleanup list!"

Isaiah "Zeke" Goodman

"One of my best memories is in the conference tournament on a fast break when I passed the ball to Greg. He went up on the right side of the hoop, around and under the rim to the left side, got fouled, and made the shot while falling to the ground. As I ran over screaming in excitement, Greg said, 'I made that!?'"

The Washington and Lee women's basketball team finished the 2007-08 campaign with a 9-17 overall record and an 8-12 conference mark. A cursory glance at those numbers will not suggest the successes and accomplishments the squad experienced on both a team and individual level

The Generals schedule afforded the team no easy path and they began the season with a pair of close losses to Alvernia (76-66) and Goucher (73-64 in OT) before falling to then top-ranked Mary Washington (79-64) in their home-opener. The Blue and White rallied from those losses to post their first win of the season a thrilling 62-59 victory over Mary Baldwin. Senior forward Kristen Krouchicks (Holland, Pa.) lay-up with 51 seconds to play secured the victory After picking up their first win, W&L fell to the conferences top teams, Virginia Wesleyan and Randolph-Macon, but went into the holiday hiatus after a 80-50 victory over Hollins. After the team returned from break, the Generals posted two of their most exciting victories of the year downing Bridgewater, 54-47, in the Warner Center on Jan 5 and Roanoke, 61-57, in Salem, Va Against the Eagles, W&L erased a 13-point second-half deficit and used a decisive 22-5 run to claim the victory In the win over RC, the Generals trailed by as many 15 points in the first half and did not lead in the contest until junior guard Bethany Ridenhour (Westwood, N.J.) drained her second-straight three-pointer to give W&L a 59-57 lead with 47 seconds remaining.

Following those big conference wins, the Blue and White also secured ODAC victories over Emory & Henry, Randolph and Hollins and swept Guilford. In a 86-61 win over the Quakers, senior forward Amanda Kane (Fairfax Station, Va.) posted a career-high 26 points and Washington and Lee set a new school record for made threes in a contest (12-20)

With eight conference victories, W&L secured the seventh seed in the ODAC tournament and was paired up with second-seed and defending ODAC Champion, Randolph-Macon. Despite leading for the majority of the contest, R-MC used a 26-3 run over the final 6:49 of the game en route to a 75-65 win.

Senior forward and team captain, Kristen Krouchick, looks for an opportunity to pass.

My favorite part of the season was when we were getting ready for playoffs at the end of the season. We had just played in a couple of tough overtime games, and the team bond was really strong as we faced one of our biggest rivals, Randolph Macon. I think that is when we were closest as a team!

Entering the preseason, Washington and Lee Head Mens Cross Country Coach John Tucker knew he had the talent to win his fourth-straight ODAC Championship, but he also explained that leadership and hard work would be the two factors that kept the Generals on top.

Tucker ended up receiving both and W&L emerged with the ODAC title, the seventh in his 19 seasons as the Generals mentor. The title run began with the season-opening W&L Invitational on Sept. 8 when the Generals finished first out of 13 teams. Junior Michael Welsh provided a preview of his season to come by finishing first out of 124 runners with a time of 28:39. He would go on to finish as the teams top runner at every meet throughout the season.

W&L finished 10th out of 23 teams the following meet at the NYU Invitational, then posted a ninth-place finish out of 39 teams at the Lehigh Paul Short Invitational on Sept. 28. The Generals then competed as individuals in the William & Mary open on Oct. 13 as a tune up for hosting the ODAC Championship on Oct. 27. At W&M, Welsh crossed the finish line in 31st-place out of 138 runners in a time of 26:26, while junior Vance Berry finished 35th overall with a time of 26:37. Senior Tom Brower also completed the course in the Top 40, placing 38th in a time of 26:44.

All three would help lead the Generals to the conference title by earning First Team All-ODAC honors. Welsh finished second at ODACs, crossing the finish line in 27:56.35, while Brower placed third overall with a time of 28:03.97. Berry placed sixth with a time of 28:33.19. Junior Alex Jackson and senior Andrew Friski both garnered Second Team All-ODAC recognition for their performances at the ODAC meet. Jackson crossed the line in 13th-place with a time of 29:26.50, while Andrew Friski placed 14th with a time of 29:36.98.

After a strong showing at ODACs, the Generals were confident that they could make a run at one of the Top 2 spots at the NCAA Regional meet and receive an automatic bid to the NCAA National Championships. W&L finished just shy of the mark, placing fourth overall out of 21 teams and matching the teams highest finish since placing second in 1997. Welsh again paced the Generals with a fifth-place finish out of 170 runners (26:09) en route to earning at automatic bid to the NCAA National Championships. He finished just seven seconds behind the individual leader. Berry finished 17th in a time of 26:43 and Brower crossed the tape in a time of 26:52 for 19th place. All three garnered all-region honors.

At NCAA Nationals, Welsh ran just one second off his regional time (26:10) and placed 164th out of 280 runners.
With the likes of Welsh, Berry and Jackson all returning for the 2008 season, Coach Tucker has to feel good about his teams leadership, work ethic and talent heading into next preseason camp. Like the women, the W&L mens cross country team should have lofty expectations next fall.

Women's Cross Country

Teams often struggle to make postseason accomplishments line up with preseason expectations. For the W&L womens cross country program, those goals continue to grow -- and the Generals have never failed to meet the challenge.

W&L was selected as the favorite to win its fourth-straight ODAC title and the Generals accomplished the feat by running a near perfect race at the ODAC Championship to nip Roanoke by a single point.

Two weeks later, W&L stalked a bid to the NCAA National Championships by finishing third out of 28 teams at the NCAA South Southeast Regional meet. The top two teams receive automatic bids to the NCAA Championships and the Generals narrowly missed receiving an at-large bid.

Entering the season, outside expectations might have been that the Generals would repeat as conference champs, but with no seniors among the teams Top 7 runners, those close to the program knew it would be a challenge. However, any doubts that W&Ls youthful talent could accomplish great things were quelled early on when the Generals placed second in the season-opening W&L Invitational. A third-place finish at the Division I James Madison Invitational and a sixth-place finish at the Division I William & Mary Invitational in the opening month of the season also served notice that the Generals would give Roanoke all it could handle for the conference title.

The Blue and White tuned up for hosting the ODAC Championships with a second-place finish at the DeSales Invitational.

At ODACs, sophomore Kat Telfeyan crossed the line in first place (23:48.80) to receive ODAC Runner of the Year honors. Junior Becca Taylor placed second with a time of 24:09.25, while junior Elizabeth Webb finished sixth with a time of 24:40.80. Both garnered First Team All-ODAC laurels. Freshmen Christine Ballistreri and Katherine Fenwick and sophomore Dorothy Todd also garnered Second Team All-ODAC recognition for their finishes. Ballistreri placed 11th with a time of 25:27.24, Fenwick finished 13th with a time of 25:34.59 and Todd placed 14th (25:37.74).

At the NCAA Regional, Telfeyan again led the way with a ninth-place finish out of 186 runners (23:32) to earn all-region honors and a bid to the NCAA National Championships for the second-straight season. Taylor also earned a bid and received all-region honors with a 10th-place finish (23:33). Webb and Balistreri also earned all-region accolades by placing 14th (24:03) and 33rd (24:54), respectively.

Telfeyan ran a lifetime-best 23:00 in placing 103rd of 280 runners at nationals, while Taylor finished her first NCAA meet in 235th place with a time of 23:56.

With the likely return of the entire squad that competed at regionals this season, the Generals will again have lofty expectations to meet at the beginning of the 2008 campaign.

Field Hockey

Over the last several seasons, the Washington and Lee field hockey program has continued to raise the bar. In just its sixth varsity season, W&L claimed its first ODAC title in 2005. The 2006 team finished 14-6 overall and was fighting for the top seed in the ODAC Tournament until the final game of the season. What could the 2007 team do to brand its mark on the programs short, but illustrious history?

Head Coach Wendy Orrison attempted to answer the question by playing her toughest schedule to date. The result was an 11-7 season (5-2) that saw the Generals compete with some of the best competition the sport has to offer. Of the seven losses, five were by a single goal, including a 1-0 loss to a then No. 11-ranked Johns Hopkins team.

W&L entered the ODAC Tournament as the third seed after narrow one-goal losses to both Eastern Mennonite (2-1) and Lynchburg (3-2) in conference regular-season play. The Generals opened the tournament with a resounding 7-0 victory over Bridgewater, but their run at a title ended with another one-goal loss to Lynchburg in the semifinals.

Though Orrisons team fell short of claiming their second ODAC title, their was plenty to add to the programs history at seasons end.

The team dynamics this year were great from the very beginning. Every player out on the field had a level of dedication to the team that was stronger than in past years. One of the greatest accomplishments of the season was our ability to adapt to playing on grass. In the past it has always been a weakness, but this year it didn't seem to be an issue.

Football

The Generals fell just short of a chance at the 2007 ODAC conference title despite plenty of goals attained during the course of the season.

Most notably, W&L finished the season with a 6-3 overall record and claimed its fourth-straight winning season, marking W&L's fourth-consecutive season of at least six victories for the first time since a string between1912-15. The seniors class graduated with a 26-14 overall record, tying for the third-most wins by a class in program history.

The season began with a 20-0 shutout win over Franklin & Marshall and a win over Averett, springing W&L to its second 2-0 start in the last three years. However, the Generals dreams of an ODAC ring took a hit with a 42-17 loss at Randolph-Macon in the third contest. Despite the setback, W&L rebounded to defeat Catholic 28-21, before taking on eventual league champion Hampden-Sydney on Oct. 13. The Generals went toe-to-toe with the Tigers for all 60 minutes but came up just short, falling 45-42. Sophomore quarterback R.J. Varner and junior running back/wide receiver Stuart Sitterson both had stellar outings for W&L. Varner threw for 301 yards and tied the school record with five touchdown passes, while Sitterson set new school records for all-purpose yards (389) and kickoff return yards in a game (193).

The Generals then strung together three straight victories with wins over Guilford (24-13), Bridgewater (17-13) and Emory & Henry (17-13), before finishing the season with a 39-21 loss at Carnegie Mellon. The win over Bridgewater was W&Ls first since 1999, while the win at Emory & Henry was just the programs third win in 17 games played in Emory, Va.

Though the Generals lose a senior class that will go down as one of the greatest in school history, plenty of talent returns for another run at a title in 2008.

Golf

The 2007-08 Washington and Lee golf season will be remembered as one of the best in the sports storied history at the school. The Generals achieved great things as a team, while senior Nathaniel James solidified his standing as one of the best ball-strikers in school history.

As is often the case, W&L steadily improved as the season progressed and capped the regular season by winning the ODAC Championship for the first time since the 1999 season. It was the Generals first and only first-place team finish of the season, but it was by far the most important. The team title also carried an automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament, giving W&L its first team bid to the big dance since 1991. W&L took full advantage of the opportunity by finishing 16th out of the 35 teams participating in the team championship with a four-day score of 323-315-294-308--1240 (+104). The Generals third-round score of 294 was among the best rounds of the entire tournament.

Individually, James showed why he is considered among the best golfers in all of Division III. He placed third overall out of 180 competitors with a score of 73-74-72-73--292 (+8), the highest finish by a W&L golfer since Jerry Maatman 78 placed third in his senior season. Sophomore Brad Watts placed in a tie for 70th overall (82-81-73-77--313), sophomore Joe Gibson tied for 87th overall (80-79-77-81--317), freshman Tim Gavrich tied for 106th (91-81-73-78--323) and sophomore Matt Langan tied for 110th overall (88-83-76-80--327).

Shortly after completing his run in the NCAA Championship event, the honors began to roll in for James. He received First Team All-South Region and First Team All-America honors for the second-straight season after completing the year ranked No. 1 in Division III with a 72.6 scoring average. He also finished ranked first in Par 5 scoring (4.69), first in total short game, third in putts on greens in regulation, fourth in Par 4 scoring (4.14) and sixth in Par 3 scoring (3.19).

James was also named First Team Academic All-District and Cleveland Golf Scholar All-American. He then followed that with the Doc Jopson Award as the top male scholar-athlete in the ODAC and capped all of his accomplishments by receiving the prestigious Byron Nelson Award, which is presented to a senior golfer that combines golf skill, academics and community service. Not only was James the first-ever Division III golfer to win the award, but he was the first Division III golfer ever to be named a finalist.

The ODAC Championship was W&Ls title to lose from the opening round. After finishing a regular season in which the Generals failed to win a team championship for the first time in five years, W&L jumped out to an eight-stroke lead in the first round and continued to expand its lead en route to winning by 10 strokes over perennial-power Guilford College. Following the championship, James was named First Team All-ODAC for the fourth-straight year and ODAC Player of the Year and ODAC Golf Scholar-Athlete of the Year for the second time. He was also the individual medalist, shooting a 75-70-77--222. Gavin Colliton was tabbed ODAC Coach of the Year, while Gibson received Honorable Mention All-ODAC honors.

James will be irreplaceable, but a majority of the team returns as the Generals attempt to match the many accomplishments of the 2007-08 season next spring.

Men's Lacrosse

The 2008 Washington and Lee lacrosse season brought fourth a full range of emotions. On one hand, the Generals finished with their best conference record (5-1) since the 2004 season. On the other, W&L suffered three one-goal losses and finished with a 9-6 overall mark for the second-straight season.

At the seasons end, the final emotion felt by players, coaches and fans alike was that of unfinished business.

Despite a topsy-turvey campaign that included overtime losses to Washington College (12-11) and Franklin & Marshall (8-7), the Generals maintained their focus to post impressive victories over Roanoke (11-10) and Hampden-Sydney (15-8) to crack back into the Division III Top 20 poll by the end of the season. The Generals secured the No. 2 seed for the ODAC Tournament, but felt the sting of a season that ended prematurely with a heartbreaking 13-12 loss to Virginia Wesleyan in the ODAC Semifinals. The loss was the Generals first-ever to the Marlins and prevented a rematch with Lynchburg in the ODAC Championship game.

Just as Rome was not built in a day, W&L Head Coach Gene McCabe knows that guiding the Generals back atop the ODAC Standings is a process -- and the 2008 season was another step in the right direction.

Case in point was an offense that averaged 12.4 goals per game and had each of its top five scorers rank within four total points of one another. The youthful defense also matured as the season went along and allowed an average of just 7.88 goals per game, good for second in the ODAC and 37th-nationally.

Junior midfielder Harry St. John paced the offense with 43 points on 30 goals and 13 assists en route to earning First Team All-ODAC and Honorable Mention All-America honors. Senior attackman Will Englehart also garnered First Team All-ODAC laurels Scholar All-America laurels after totaling 42 points on 37 goals and five assists, while junior midfielder Tim Skeen received Honorable Mention All-ODAC accolades after producing 42 points (17 g, 25 a). Sophomore attackman Will Keigler logged 40 points on 16 goals and 24 assists and senior attackman Ned Rider capped his career by snaring Honorable Mention All-ODAC honors and notching 39 points (27 g, 12 a). Rider completed his career ranked 24th all-time at W&L with 120 points (80 g, 40 a).

On defense, junior James Shanahan was named First Team All-ODAC, while senior Spotty Robins received Second Team All-ODAC laurels and was tabbed as an alternate to the North-South Senior All-Star game. Freshman Austin Wernecke improved tremendously all season long and capped his stellar initial campaign by posting Honorable Mention All-ODAC accolades. Junior goalkeeper Connor Locke also provided glue for the Generals defense and finished the season with a .550 save percentage and an 8.19 goals-against average.

W&L will feel the loss of such productive senior leaders as Englehart, Rider and Robins. However, eight of the teams top 10 scorers and the entire close defense returns as McCabe aims for continued improvement for the 2009 season.

Women's Lacrosse

The 2008 Washington and Lee womens lacrosse team continued its run of success on the conference and national level even with the addition of first-year Head Coach Brooke Diamond. The Generals won their sixth-straight ODAC title, made their ninth overall and sixth-consecutive appearance in the NCAA tournament, set a new school record for wins in a season (17-3) and garnered a program-best No. 5 ranking in the IWLCA Division III poll.

The Diamond era got off to a 4-0 start that included an impressive 8-7 win at St. Marys (Md.). Following a disappointing 7-4 setback to defending National Champion Franklin & Marshall, Diamond kept her group focused to the tune of 11 consecutive wins. Even more impressive during that stretch were convincing victories over then third-ranked Middlebury (14-8), 13th-ranked Mary Washington (12-9) and 19th-ranked McDaniel (18-5). The streak ended with a 12-8 loss to second-ranked The College of New Jersey, but the Generals recovered to easily defeat Randolph-Macon (11-4) and Roanoke (13-4) to capture the ODAC Tournament title and the accompanying NCAA Tournament bid.

W&Ls season resume was enough for the NCAA Tournament Committee to give the Generals a first-round bye for the tournament. However, the dream season ended with a 10-8 loss to Amherst in a second round game at Franklin & Marshall.

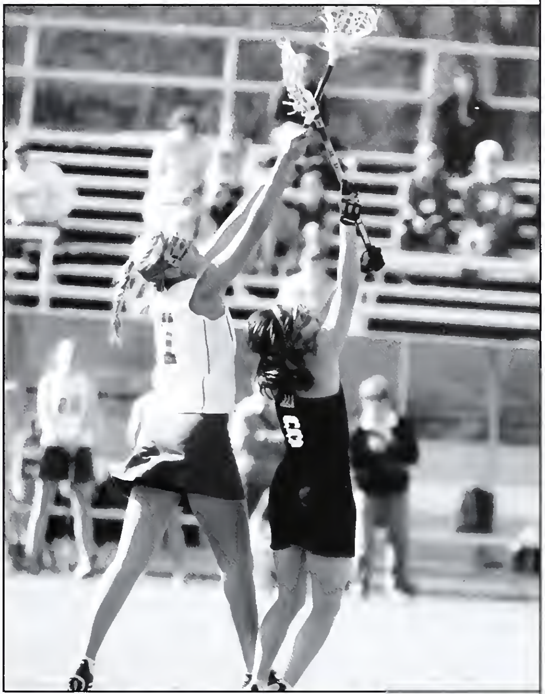
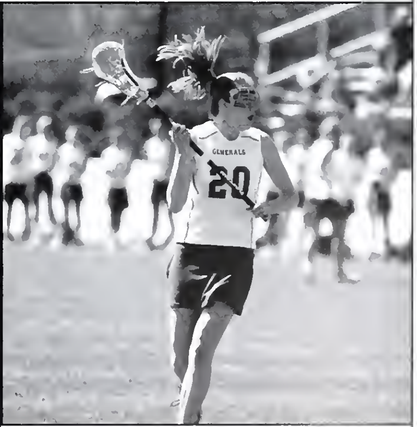
As disappointing as the season-ending loss proved to be, the season concluded on a high note with several individuals receiving league, regional and national recognition. The honors were headlined by senior defender Kat Michaels, who captained the W&L defense that ranked third nationally in scoring defense (6.15). She was named ODAC Player of the Year and earned First Team All-South Region and First Team All-America laurels, to go along with Division III Defender of the Year accolades. Senior goalkeeper Sarah Tilbor also had a stellar season, leading Division III with a .563 save percentage and ranking second with a 6.54 goals-against average. Tilbor garnered First Team All-Conference, First Team All-South Region and First Team All-America honors and was named Division III Goalkeeper of the Year by womenslacrosse.com. She concluded her career ranked third all-time at W&L in saves (513) and fifth all-time in save percentage (.564). Junior attacker Kelsi Robinson earned First Team All-ODAC, First Team All-South Region and Third Team All-America honors, while junior midfielder Colleen Evans was tabbed First Team All-ODAC and First Team All-South Region. Sophomore attacker Britten Mathews added First Team All-ODAC and Second Team All-South honors as well. Rounding out the Generals award recipients was senior midfielder Megan Slosson, who earned Second Team All-ODAC and Second Team All-South Region accolades. Additionally, Diamond received ODAC Coach of the Year laurels and the team garnered the Team Sportsmanship Award.

Despite heavy losses to graduation, the Generals are no doubt positioned for another run at the ODAC title and NCAA Tournament in 2009.





Riding

After finishing fifth at the 2007 ODAC Championships, improvement was the focus of the Generals 2008 riding team. From start to finish, W&L did just that, making strides towards returning to the form that saw the program win the 2006 ODAC title.

The season began with several tremendous individual performances during the four shows that occurred before the winter break. Four different W&L riders garner blue ribbons during this stretch, including a pair of freshmen.

Freshmen Caitlin McCurdy and Allison Lemon, along with junior Hila Yasher stepped up early and notched two first-place finishes. McCurdy brought home the gold in the walk-trot-canter in the opening show of the season at Radford and then again two weeks later at Hollins, while Lemon placed first in the intermediate flat at Randolph and the intermediate over fences at Hollins. Yasher earned blue ribbons in the walk-trot at Hollins and Bridgewater. Junior Sarah Bujtas also made her mark early when she placed first in the intermediate flat at Radford.

After returning from the winter hiatus, the Generals had five shows before the IHSA Region Championships. The first show took place at Randolph and Bujtas registered a first-place finish and qualified for regionals in the intermediate flat, while junior Catherine Hook garnered her first blue ribbon of the season in the novice flat and later qualified for regionals with her performance at Hollins. Senior Ashley Billman also brought home her first gold in the over fences, while Yasher finished second in the walk-trot, which was a qualifying mark for regionals at Bridgewater. Lemon collected two more top-finishes in the intermediate fences and met the qualifying standard for regionals at the Virginia Invitational just four days before the championship.

With their qualifying-performances, both Lemon and Yasher competed in the IHSA Region Championship and notched fifth-place finishes in their respected classes on February 29 at Sweet Briar College.

The Generals then had about a month to prepare for the ODAC championship and just as W&L began the season on a high note, they also ended with a strong finish on April 11 at Bridgewater College.

As a team, the Generals tied for third with Sweet Briar. Hollins won the title, followed by Bridgewater, Washington and Lee, Sweet Briar, Randolph and Lynchburg. Individually, Lemon garnered First Team All-ODAC honors and was tabbed the ODAC Rookie of the Year.

With all but three riders returning to the fold for the 2008-09 season, the Generals are well positioned to continue their ascent to the top of the ODAC standings.

Men's Soccer

The highlight reel from the Washington and Lee mens soccer teams 2007 season contains 30 post-goal celebrations, 12 wins, a Division I upset and an appearance in the conference finals.

The Generals began the season at 1-1-1 overall after a 5-0 win over Southern Virginia, a 4-1 loss to nationally-ranked Johns Hopkins and a 0-0 tie against Buffalo State. A win over Marymount (2-0) and a 0-0 tie at Lynchburg had W&L sitting at 2-1-2 overall in the middle of September. However, it was at that point that the Generals hit their stride, stringing together eight-straight wins. During the streak, W&L outscored its opponents 17-1 and posted a 3-0 victory over VMI, the first time since 2001 that the Generals were victorious over their cross-town rival.

Virginia Wesleyan, the eventual ODAC regular-season champion, halted the Blue and Whites winning ways, and a 1-1 tie with Hampden-Sydney gave the Generals the third seed entering the conference tournament.

In the tournament, W&L avenged its earlier ties with Lynchburg (2-0) and Hampden-Sydney (2-1) to advance to the ODAC Championship game for the first time since 2003. However, the Generals run to the title was cut one game short as Roanoke handed W&L a 2-0 loss.

The Generals 12-3-3 season was nearly enough for an at-large bid to the NCAA Tournament, but like the W&L women, the men were among the last teams left out of the big dance.

The Generals eight graduating seniors left their mark on the program, leading W&L to a 39-19-10 (.617) overall record during their four seasons. However, the returnees will be ready to create their owns highlights as W&L pursues the title in 2008.

Women's Soccer

The Washington and Lee womens soccer team continued to prove throughout the 2007 season that it is one of the best and most consistent programs in the country. The Generals posted a 16-4 overall record to improve their string of consecutive winning seasons to 15. W&L also advanced to the semifinals of the ODAC Tournament for the 19th-straight season. The Generals totaled a 9-2 conference record and, under head coach Neil Cunningham, own an impressive 61-8-8 (.844) in ODAC play over the last seven years.

W&L opened the season with a 1-0 loss to then-ranked No. 10 Denison, but responded with five-straight wins, including non-conference victories over Sewanee (1-0) and Greensboro (3-1).

Despite a 2-1 setback to Virginia Wesleyan on Sept. 22, the Generals ended the regular season on a strong note, winning 10 out of their final 11 games to earn the third seed in the 2007 ODAC Tournament. W&L advanced to the ODAC semifinals with a 3-1 win over Eastern Mennonite in the first round. However, Roanoke stymied the Generals quest for a title and NCAA berth as it topped the Blue and White, 2-1, in the semis.

The Generals were among the final teams left out of the NCAA tournament thus ending their traditional season.

Men's Swimming

Expectations were high for the Washington and Lee mens swimming team after a banner 2006-07 season that saw the squad equal their best-ever finish at NCAAs. However, fifth-year Head Coach Joel Shinofield and his 2007-08 team not only matched the prior years accomplishments with a second-straight eighth-place finish at NCAAs, but also eclipsed that performance as senior Alex Sweet (Louisville, Ky.) took home the national title in the 50 free, setting a new Division III Championship record with a time of 19.85.

Sweet is W&Ls fifth national champion and the first since Nathan Hottle won the 200 breast in 1995. He earned First-Team All-America honors for the gold performance in the 50 free and also garnered first-team accolades with a sixth-place finish in the 100 free. In the preliminaries of that event, Sweet also broke his own school record with a time of 44.51.

Other top performances at the national championship meet included two First-Team All-America relay teams. The team of Sweet, senior Tim McGlaston, sophomore Brandon Barnds and junior Paul Crook set a new school record in the 400 free relay (3:02.43), while the quartet of Sweet, McGlaston, Barnds and junior Brett Tatman finished fourth in the 200 free relay. The group set a new school record in the preliminaries, touching in a time of 1:21.55.

The extraordinary performances were not limited to Nationals, as the Generals had a successful outing at the Bluegrass Mountain Conference Championship meet. W&L finished second at its conference meet, aided by two second-place finishing relays and Crooks first-place finish in the 500 free (4:36.58). Sweet, McGlaston, Crook and junior Chris Diebold placed second in the 800 free relay (6:52.85), while Sweet, McGlaston, Tatman and Barnds took silver in the 200 free relay (1:22.41).

The Generals finished the regular season with a 9-2 overall mark with their only losses coming to Division I Virginia Tech and Johns Hopkins, who finished second at NCAAs this year. The regular-season was highlighted by a 133-129 win over eventual BMC Champion Wingate. The Generals trailed entering the final relay, but the team of Sweet, McGlaston, Tatman and Barnds won the 400 relay (3:09.79) to emerge victorious.

W&L also picked up a trio of solid wins in the early going, downing Franklin & Marshall (184-78), Rochester (189-73) and Carnegie Mellon (140-122) at a double-dual meet hosted by CMU. McGlaston led the way for the Generals, winning both the 50 free and the 100 free and competing on two top-finishing relays (200 medley, 400 medley).

Replacing Sweet, McGlaston and four additional seniors next year will be a near impossible feat. However, after witnessing the accomplishments of 2007-08 team and its ability to rise to the challenge, the W&L mens swimming program should be able to continue its streak of success and remain amongst the elite in Division III.

Women's Swimming

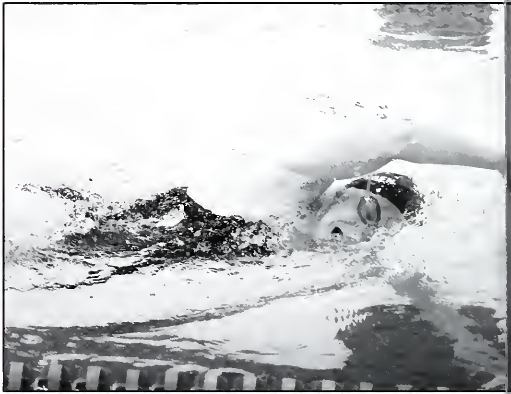
Prior to the season, first-year Head Coach Kami Gardner and the 2007-08 Washington and Lee womens swim team had one very specific goal: to reclaim the ODAC Championship. Additional preseason goals included competing against elite non-conference teams, breaking school records and achieving NCAA qualifying times. If the Generals had made a to-do list with these goals, the postseason would have been very gratifying, as each goal would be marked off.

W&L finished the regular season with a 13-6 overall record and a unblemished 7-0 conference record. The regular season was highlighted by a 141-60 thumping over defending ODAC Champion Randolph-Macon and two quality non-conference wins over Franklin & Marshall (135-127) and Rochester (159.5-102.5).

The Blue and White entered the 2008 ODAC Atlantic States Championship riding a five-meet winning streak and continued their winning ways by totaling its 18th ODAC title. The Generals totaled 937 points, defeating the closest competition by over 300 points.

Junior Lindsey Strachan helped lead W&L to the title as she won the 200 back with a NCAA B cut time of 2:08.90 and finished first in the 100 back (1:00.05). She also competed on both the winning 200 medley relay (1:52.42) and the school-record-setting 400 medley relay (4:06.38) teams and, as a result, was named ODAC Swimmer of the Year.

Strachan was not the only General to receive a major ODAC award. Freshman Tess Hayden, senior Amy Roberson and junior Julianne Miata were each honored following the conference championships. Hayden was tabbed as the conferences Rookie of the Year, while Roberson took home Scholar-Athlete of the Year accolades for the second-straight year. Miata was chosen as the recipient of the Bonnie Kestner Sportsmanship Award.



Hayden competed on four winning relays (200 free, 200 medley, 400 free, 800 free) and won three individual events. She took the gold in the 500 free (5:18.61), the 200 free (1:59.42) and the 1650 free (18:21.26) en route to earning the prestigious award. A psychology and sociology double major with a GPA in excess of 3.9, Roberson competed on three winning relays, the 400 free (3:42.38), 200 free (1:41.58) and 400 medley (4:06.38) and individually, she won the 100 fly (1:00.04) at ODACs. Miata earned the Bonnie Kestner Sportsmanship Award after returning from two potential season-ending injuries to compete at ODACs.

And, the individual accolades didnt end with that quartet. Strachan, Hayden, Roberson and Miata were joined by juniors Susan Mahoney and Jessica Shaw, sophomores Sarah Simpson and Jenna Worsham and freshman Jackie Smith as W&Ls representatives on the First Team All-ODAC team.

With all but Roberson and seniors Danielle Cardone and Colette Moryan returning next year, it looks like the Generals preseason checklist may expand next winter.

Men's Tennis

The 2008 Washington and Lee mens tennis season simply added another chapter to a strong legacy of success. However, it appeared early on as if the seasons story would be written in a completely different tone.

After returning seven of the top eight players from the 2007 team that set a school record for victories (20-3), expectations were high for the 2008 squad. Some had pause to reconsider early on following losses to Christopher Newport (6-3), top-ranked UC Santa Cruz (9-0) and Redlands (7-2) to begin the spring season 0-3 overall. However, all doubters were reassured of the Generals strong prospects as the season progressed. An 0-3 record improved to 4-4 in mid-March and quickly ballooned to 18-4 following a program-record tying 14-match winning streak. Included in the streak were impressive wins over Hampden-Sydney (twice), 13th-ranked Carnegie Mellon (6-3), Swarthmore (9-0), 15th-ranked Johns Hopkins (5-4) and 12th-ranked Salisbury (5-4). W&Ls second victory over Hampden-Sydney (9-0) occurred in the ODAC title match and secured the Generals 13th-straight ODAC Crown and eighth consecutive trip to the NCAA Division III Tournament.

In the NCAAs, W&L opened with a 5-0 win over Messiah in the first round, but then dropped a tightly-contested 5-4 dual with 13th-ranked Mary Washington to complete the season with an 18-5 overall record.

By the end of the season, the 0-3 start had been all but forgotten and the talk was of another impressive campaign that included a perfect 9-0 ODAC record as W&L improved its ODAC regular-season win streak to 64-straight dating back to the 1999-00 season.

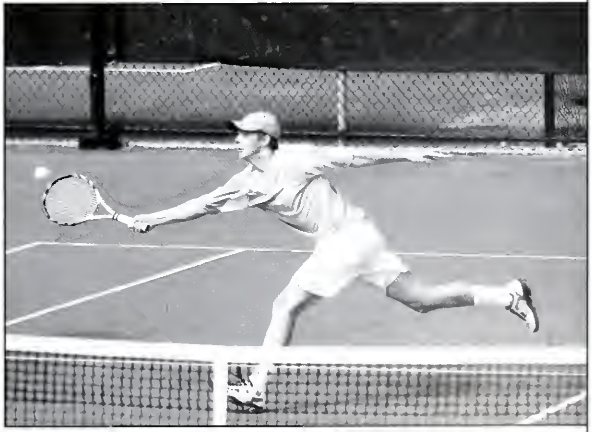
Head Coach David Detwiler, who has yet to experience a loss in ODAC play, improved his career record to 124-46 overall (.729), while several individuals were recognized for their performances throughout the season.

Seniors Tim Ross, Nat Estes, Seth Feibelman and Stuart Sanford, junior Jamie McCardell and sophomores Brent Meyers and Alex Brooke all earned first team all-conference honors.

Ross finished with a 13-6 record at No. 1 singles and teamed with several partners to go 12-9 in doubles. Estes notched a 12-6 mark at No. 2 singles and went 17-4 in doubles play, while Feibelman was 12-9 at No. 3 singles and posted a 14-3 doubles record. Sanford went 14-5 at No. 5 singles and was 16-3 in doubles, McCardell posted a 20-8 record at No. 4 singles and went 11-10 in doubles, Meyers logged an 11-3 mark in singles and went 4-0 in doubles and Brooke posted records of 2-0 in singles and 15-5 in doubles.

Replacing the likes of seniors Ross, Estes, Feibelman and 2007 All-ODAC player Nelson Bunn will be a difficult task. As a group, they have led W&L to a 67-23 (.744) overall record and four ODAC titles. However, as usual for this program, expectations will be high for another successful campaign in 2009.



Women's Tennis

With a considerable amount of change on the horizon -- the retirement of veteran Head Coach Cinda Rankin and the loss of three All-America players -- there was the risk that the Washington and Lee womens tennis team would not continue its position as an elite Division III program. However, that possibility was simply not an option for newly minted Head Coach Eric Ishida and his 2008 squad. The team proved that there would be no rebuilding effort, winning its sixth-straight ODAC Championship, making its 16th trip to NCAAs and advancing to the NCAA finals for the fourth-straight season.

The Generals title defense began in the fall with a 5-4 win over Carnegie Mellon. The fall also featured stellar individual play as junior Katie Tabb captured the ITA Southeast Regional Singles Championship and competed at the ITA National Small College Championships, finishing fifth. Additionally, the Generals swept all eight singles flights and all four doubles brackets at the ODAC Individual Tournament to conclude its fall schedule.

W&L opened its spring slate with a string of six ODAC wins before defeating then ninth-ranked Denison (8-1) and sixth-ranked Mary Washington (7-2). Another trio of ODAC victories gave the Generals the momentum they needed to host the 2008 Fab Five Tournament that showcased eight teams ranked in the Top 30, including three Top 10 teams. During the week-long Fab Five event, W&L defeated Wellesley (8-1), Gustavus Adolphus (9-0), Claremont (9-0) and Skidmore (9-0). In addition, the Generals topped No. 3 Williams, 5-4, with senior Leah Weston notching the decisive win at

o. 4 singles to steal the victory from the Ephs.

Following the Fab Five Tournament, W&L had one more top-ranked egular-season match before entering the ODAC Tournament. Again, in xciting fashion, the Generals pulled out a 5-4 victory over then ranked No. Emory, with junior Meg Spalitta giving the team the match-deciding win at o. 6 singles.

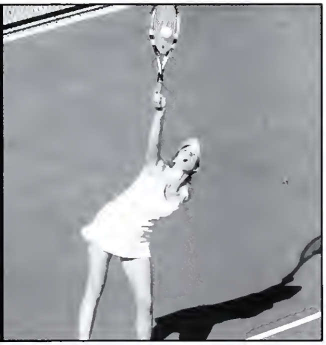
The Generals breezed through the ODAC Tournament to win its sixth-traight conference title. In the process, W&L concluded the season without ropping a single conference match (60-0) and received a first-round bye or the NCAA Tournament. With a 5-0 win over Hunter in the second round nd a 5-2 victory over Carnegie Mellon in the third round, the Generals arned their ticket to the quarterfinals for the 13th time in school history. &L topped host Gustavus Adolphus (5-3) in the quarterfinals and then efeated Denison (5-1) in the semifinal match to procure a trip to the finals here they would encounter Williams once again.

Coming into the finals, the Generals had strung together an impressive 0-match win streak that dated back to a 5-4 loss to Williams on March 30, 007 and included their 2007 title run. W&L took a 2-1 lead after doubles, ut Williams ended the Generals attempt at claiming a second-straight title s the Ephs captured four of the six singles to win the title.

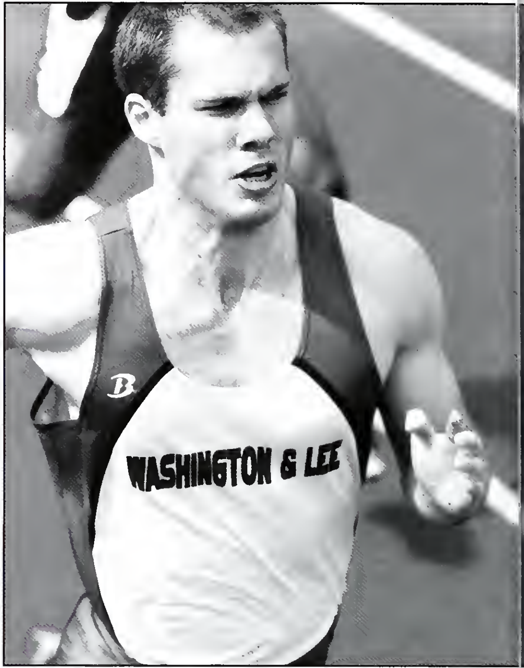
espite a disappointing conclusion, there was a lot to celebrate and ommemorate during the 2007-08 campaign. Individually, Tabb was named DAC Player of the Year, while Ishida earned ODAC Coach of the Year onors. Tabb was joined on the All-ODAC First-Team by seniors Rebecca immis, Weston, Kelly Will, Spalitta, and sophomore Lauren Caire.

aire also earned two All-America citations after competing in the uarterfinals of the NCAA Singles and Doubles Tournaments and was amed the ITA Atlantic South Player to Watch. Tabb also garnered a pair of ll-America honors as she paired with Caire in the doubles tournament and as the second seed in the singles tournament.

he Generals will be losing a six-person senior class, but with Caire and abb highlighting the returnees in 2009, it looks like the program is not at isk to lose its toehold as a powerhouse in the world of Division III womens ennis.



Men's Track & Field



The 2008 W&L outdoor track and field team carried over its string of accomplishments from the indoor season. The womens year was highlighted by top performances at the ODAC outdoor championship meet and at NCAAs, while the mens season featured a plethora of strong finishes all season.

The outdoor term began with six meets before the Generals made their mark at the ODAC championship. The women finished second with a record-point total of 149 points and junior Stacy Doornbos earned the ODAC Outdoor Track and Field Athlete of the Year award, while junior Elizabeth Webb garnered the ODAC Scholar-Athlete of the Year honor. Additionally, Head Coach Nate Hoey was named the Womens Coach of the Year.

The women were paced by Doornbos, Webb and junior Jessica Shaw, who all notched first-place finishes. Doornbos placed first in the high jump (53), while Webb finished first and set championship meet records in the 1500 meters (4:44.90) and the 800 meters (2:18.15). Shaw notched a top finish in the 5000 meters (17:29), which set a school and championship record, and was an NCAA qualifying mark.

Other top performers included junior Becca Taylor, who set a school record in the steeple chase (11:59) for a second-place finish. Junior Grace Andrews placed in three events, finishing third in the shot put (10.79), fifth in the discus (29.31) and hammer throw with a school-record toss of 33.02. Also, the 4x100 meter relay team of Doornbos, freshman Summer Lollie , junior Stephanie Stelter and junior Tara Hildenbrand notched a third-place finish with a school-record time of 49.51.

The men also made their mark at ODACs, editing the record books and finishing third overall. Sophomore Billy Billington posted two second-place finishes. He threw 13.87 meters in the shot put and tossed 41.33 meters in the discus throw. Billington also placed third and set a school record in the hammer throw (47.68). Senior Michael Keenan took second in the javelin with a school-record toss of 51.87, while junior Vance Berry finished second in the 5000 meters (15.33.54).

With 12 All-ODAC citations, three championship meet records, four ODAC champions, five school records and one NCAA qualifier, the Generals continued their season with several athletes competing to earn a spot at NCAAs. Doornbos qualified in the heptathlon, while Shaw met the standard in the 5,000 meters.

At NCAAs, Doornbos placed third and garnered All-America honors in the heptathlon with a school-recor point total of 4,737. Doornbos started the competition by running 15.18 in the 100 meter hurdles, which tied th school record. She then leaped 52.50 in the high jump and threw a lifetime-best 333.25 in the shot put. She the completed the first day with a time of 25.60 in the 200 meters. Doornbos began the second day by clearing 174.75 in the long jump and followed that up with a toss of 873 in the javelin. She ended the event with a tim of 2:24.16 in the 800 meter dash. Shaw also earned All-America honors when she placed fifth in a school-recor time of 16:56.78.

Washington and Lee ended on a very strong note and with the majority of both squads returning in 2008 2009, the Generals will continue setting records and look for the top spots in the conference.

Volleyball

Merely two years ago, the W&L volleyball team advanced to the NCAA Sweet 16 for the first time in program history. While the 2007 team did not advance past the first round of the NCAAs, it did leave its footprints on the W&L record book and made its mark in a number of different areas. The end result was a 29-6 overall record and the Generals 10th-straight season of at least 20 victories. Additionally, the Blue and White captured its seventh-consecutive ODAC Championship and advanced to the NCAA tournament for the seventh-straight season.

However, the season's beginning looked like the Generals would make their mark in the programs annals for a very different reason. W&L began with a 4-5 overall record and saw a pair of program best streaks come to an end in the process.

As host, the Generals opened the season by hosting the W&L Invitational and won their opener over Southern Virginia, 3-2, to extend the program-record home-court winning streak to 26 matches dating back to the 2005 season. The streak, however, would come to an end in the very next match as Christopher Newport claimed a 3-0 victory. W&L finished the tournament 2-2 and opened the ODAC slate with a home match against Bridgewater the very next weekend. The Eagles snapped W&Ls second streak of the season, defeating the Generals, 3-0, and ending a 62-match ODAC winning streak that dated back to the 2000 season.

Despite the rough start, the Blue and White began to turn the season around as it ended play at the Emory Tournament with a 2-2 record. W&L was tested by several ranked opponents, falling to Heidelberg and Emory. However, victories over Maryville and Piedmont would only be the beginning of yet another successful winning streak that carried the Generals to another tremendous season. The streak lasted nine weeks and ended at 26-straight wins.

A trio of ODAC wins sandwiched around a non-conference win over Ferrum, sent the Generals into the Averett Tourney with a 10-5 record. W&L defeated ODAC-rival Randolph-Macon and three non-conference teams in that tournament.

The Generals winning-streak continued as they competed in conference play and in the Christopher Newport and Maryville Tournaments.

Three victories at Maryville ended regular-season play for W&L, but it also set a new program record. A win over Cumberlands extended the Generals winning-streak to 22-consecutive matches, besting the previous record of 21-straight wins set in 2005.

The wins only gave the Generals momentum for the ODAC Tournament. With a 26-5 overall record, the second-seeded Generals entered the tournament against seventh-seeded Emory & Henry with a 3-0 win in the first round, before defeating sixth-seeded Randolph-Macon, 3-0, in the semi-finals.

The true test came in the championship when W&L faced top-seeded Bridgewater and avenged the earlier loss that ended the Generals conference winning streak. Washington and Lee snatched a 30-22, 30-19, 30-18 triumph to claim their seventh-straight ODAC title and gain the leagues automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament for the seventh year in a row.

The fifth-seeded Generals then fell to fourth-seeded Southwestern in the first round, 30-24, 30-21, 30-27, capping another stellar campaign on the hardwood.

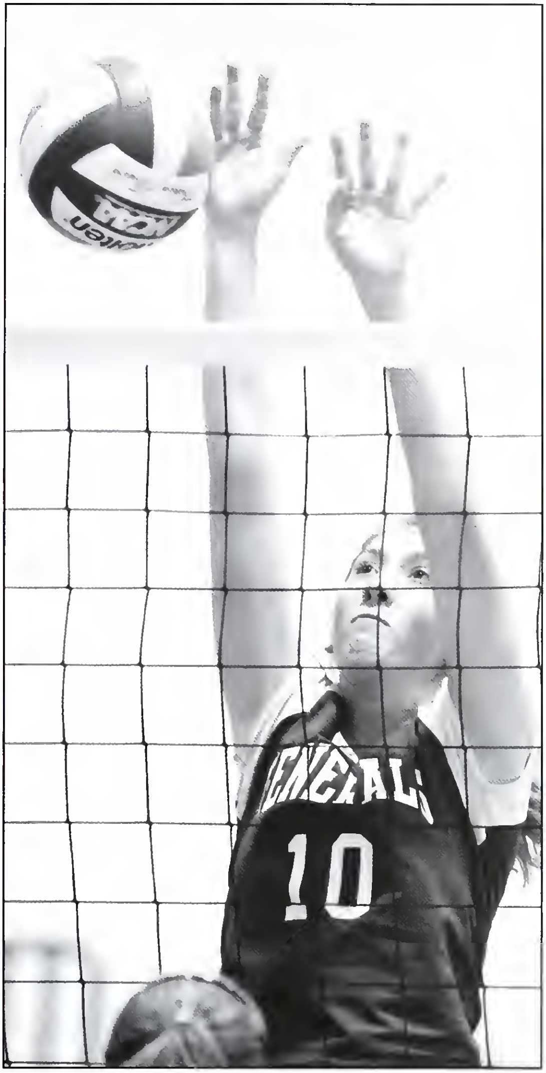
The team congratulates each other on their domination.



❝We had a very interesting season...ending our undefeated ODAC match win streak by losing to Bridgewater. However, that loss turned out to be good for us because it took the pressure of the streak off, and it gave us the kick we needed to come together as a team and make it known that we deserve the conference title. We beat CNU for the first time since I have been on the team, which was a really great feeling as a senior. Beginning early-mid season, we started a winning streak that took us all the way through NCAA regionals, breaking a school record with 23 matches won in a row. I was really proud to be a leader of this team, as we overcame obstacles in the beginning of our season to end the season as a strong, competitive, and successful team in which everyone contributed to our success.❞

Wrestling

The Washington and Lee wrestling team continued its run of success by recording its second-straight winning season. The Generals finished at 7-5 overall and proceeded to edit the record books in the process.

W&L began its season by competing in several individual and team tournaments. The Generals first hit the mat in Pennsylvania at the Ursinus Invitational, where they had two wrestlers finish in the Top 3. Junior John Christopher (Fort Lauderdale, Fla.), who wrestles at 197 pounds, notched a second-place finish, while senior 165-pounder Anthony Boniello (Katonah, N.Y.) finished third overall.

The following weekend, the Generals competed at the Messiah Petrofes Invitational. As a whole, W&L finished 11th out of 13 teams, but had four wrestlers finish in the top eight. Again, Christopher led the Blue and White with a third-place finish, while senior Kirk Adamson (Richmond, Va.) finished sixth at 184 pounds. Boniello and senior Peter Lawrence (Greenwich, Conn.), who competes at 149 pounds, both tallied eighth-place finishes.

W&L rebounded following its showing at the Petrofes with three strong victories at the Washington & Jefferson Quadrangular. The Generals defeated Waynesburg, 40-6, Gettysburg, 26-13, and W&J, 19-15. W&L was led by senior David Shubick (Bound Brook, N.J.), who wrestles at 133 pounds, Boniello and junior 174-pounder Rob Terrin (Baltimore, Md.), who all went 3-0 on the afternoon.

After being on the road for the first three competitions of the season, the Blue and White began to show consistent success by placing fourth at the W&L Invitational, scoring 58.5 points. The Generals had five grapplers with strong finishes, including Boniello, who took home the gold. Lawrence, Adamson, senior Tim Manson (Lookout Mountain, Tenn.) and Christopher all went 3-1 on the day to notch third-place finishes.

The following weekend, the Generals hosted the W&L Quad without the full complement of wrestlers due to injuries from the previous week. With only a handful of backups available, W&L was no match in falling to Stevens Tech by a score of 44-6 and dropping a 48-3 decision to Kings Point.

With the starters back, W&L regrouped just four days later to defeat Route 60-rival Southern Virginia, 42-3. The Generals were led by sophomore Sam Brusca (Rockville, Md.), who grapples at 141 pounds. Brusca defeated his opponent 5-4. Also, at 149 pounds, senior Erick Gagne (Philadelphia, Pa.) posted a 9-2 victory.

Up next for Washington and Lee was a tough Centennial match with Johns Hopkins. The Generals lost 25-9, but Shubick, Lawrence and Manson all notched victories on the evening.

A week later, the Generals traveled back to Ursinus for matches against McDaniel, Muhlenberg and Ursinus. W&L went 1-2 on the day as they defeated McDaniel, 22-21, but fell to Muhlenberg, 25-15 and Ursinus, 28-9. Lawrence and Boniello both went 3-0 on the afternoon, while Shubick and Adamson went 2-1 on the day.

The next two meets concluded the regular season for the Generals. W&L ended on a high note, as it defeated Newport News Apprentice, 27-9, before topping Longwood, 51-0. Manson, Lawrence and Brusca all went 2-0 on the evening. Shubick and Terrin also claimed victories via pin.

After two strong wins, the next week was spent preparing for the Centennial Conference Championship hosted by Ursinus. Despite finishing in eighth place, the Generals still had several impressive individual showings -- all by seniors that had carried the program through their current wave of success.

With the loss of seven seniors, the 2008-2009 Washington and Lee wrestling program will have a different feel next year. However, plenty returns in the sophomore and junior classes to help sustain the current string of winning seasons through next season.

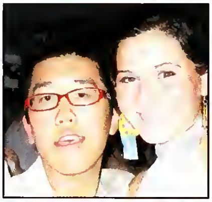
Orientation Week

Orientation Week isn't just about getting freshmen acclimated to how we do business at W&L. It's about reuniting with friends you haven't seen in months. It's enjoying the perks of being in Lex with none of the responsibilities of school. It's about meeting new people and building new relationships. And it's about getting ready for another great year in wonderful Lex Vegas.

"Orientation week was great until we realized how sketchy Fallout was..."
-Clark Davis

"Let's just say, I wish the placement exams had been in the afternoon..."
-Maddin Nelson

"I think it is always good to have warm-ups or preparations before school actually starts."
-Jeong Hoon Yoo



"I never thought getting picked up on a curb would turn into so much fun!"
-Kathy Brown

"Orientation week opened my eyes to many awkward yet entertaining experiences."

Parents' Weekend

Parents Weekend 2007 was a good time for students and their families alike. Lexington was full of good cheer as the streets, hotels, and restaurants were crowded with families enjoying our small town. Parents enjoyed a beautiful Lexington fall weekend with crisp blue skies and changing foliage. Friday night was a rowdy success as students entertained their guests with cocktails and band parties! On Saturday, athletic teams achieved astounding victories with wins across the board. The highlight was the football team's defeat over Catholic with a score of 28 -21. The festivities continued Saturday night with athletes and fans alike celebrating their achievements and each other. Junior Jay Longosz reflects on the weekend, "My parents always love visiting Lexington and consider it a home away from home. This year they especially had a great time!" We agree Jay, this year was a success!

Christmas Weekend

Christmas Weekend succeeded this year at getting all of the students into the holiday spirit. Everything from cocktail parties to Christmas in the Country rang with holiday spirit and heralded in the end of the semester. Despite the fact that Christmas Weekend actually occured only one week afte Thanksgiving, it brought with it holiday cheer that lasted through the end of exams.

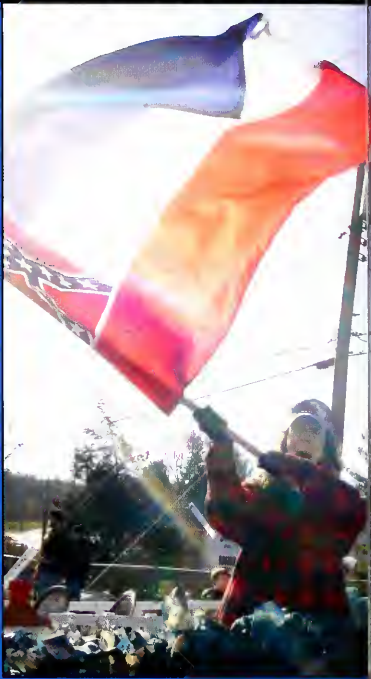
Mock Convention Parade



The Washington and Lee University Mock Convention is a quadrennial tradition in which student delegates attempt to predict the presidential nominee of the political party currently out the of the White House. This year, the Mock Convention tried to select the Democratic presidential candidate.

Billed as the nation's most accurate mock convention since its inception in 1908, W&L's convention is not the oldest such exercise; Oberlin College has one that dates back to pre-Civil War days. Nevertheless, for consistent accuracy - and eye-filling opulence - the Mock Convention simply has no peer. With 18 correct predictions in 23 attempts, the convention has been described by Time as the "biggest and boomingest" of all amateur gatherings. Newsweek, not to be outdone, dubbed it, "the most realistic" student conclave. It has been applauded on the floor of the U.S. Senate as an "outstanding practical experiment in politics." And as media interest grows steadily in anticipation of an upcoming convention, W&L has received coverage ranging from the Washington Post to live gavel-to-gavel broadcasts on C-SPAN.

Since 1908, the Convention has correctly selected presidential primary candidates 18 out of 23 times, with only one error since 1948.

Mock Convention: Celebr
January 25-26, 2

The Mock Con Parade was a display of the best (and worst) of student creativity. It featured floats from all 50 states and US territories including American Samoa, Puerto Rico (all the perks, none of the responsibilities), and the US Virgin Islands. Special guests such as Richard Nixon, Arnold Schwarzenegger, Robert E. Lee, George Washington, Bill and Hilary Clinton, and the Abominable Snowman also made appearances, making this an even not to be missed.

"It was an honor to work with Richard, Sara, Sarah, and Wes over the past 2 and 1 2 yrs. The Mock Convention is something that is truly unique to campus. Other schools have similar events, but nothing compares to the level of involvement or the level of professionalism of the Mock Convention at W&L. The entire W&L community, especially the students, really made the 100th anniversary of the event not only a lot of fun, but something everyone will really remember."

LEXINGTON, Va. After two days of political events at Washington and Lee University, the 2008 Mock Convention selected Senator Hillary Rodham Clinton as the Democratic presidential nominee. The prediction marks the 100th anniversary of the most accurate student-run mock convention in the nation.

More than 90 percent of the student body is involved in running the convention. They spend over two years planning, researching and organizing the quadrennial event, which has consistently featured prominent political figures and received national media attention.

This year, the convention featured the following distinguished speakers:

Spring Term

The 2007-08 school year saw the last of the 6-week Spring Terms - since the administration announced plans for a reformed 4-week version of the term to take effect next year. One of th most cherished W&L traditions, students enjoyed this final month and a half of warm weather a open schedules to enjoy both intensive classes and the easy outdoors of Rockbridge County in May. Whether out on a spring night to watch stars for astronomy lab or by the light of a countr bonfire, all made equal time for work and play. Floating the river, day tripping to Goshen Pass and Panther Falls, the rope swing, the House Mountain hiking trails - all were preferred activies during this long goodbye to Lexington and hello to summer.

Goshen Pass

Located a few scenic miles outside of town, Goshen is a popular Spring Term attraction for students who wish to get out of town for a relaxing afternoon outdoors.

Alumni Weekend

Alumni Weekend saw the return of many of W&L's illustrious graduates from years past. With a plethera of events to attend to, from cocktail parties to crew races, returning Generals enjoyed a memory-filled weekend at their alma mater. But the fun wasn't limited to alumns. Current students also participated in the festivities and seniors got a glimpse of where they would be next year.

The superb spring weather induced Generals of all ages to spend the weekend outside. The Alumni Luncheon and many afternoon student gatherings all took place out of doors so as to take advantage of the sunny days.

The Friday night Alumni cocktail party on Lee Chapel lawn was a huge hit. Alumns met with the senior class for a night of food, music, and free beer and wine.

Graduation

June 5, 2008 - One Last Day of Perfection

"This afternoon with your departure, the University in your eyes will begin its inexorable decline away from its perfection. Yes, when the history of the University is finally written, it will be recorded that Washington and Lee reached its peak on June 5, 2008.

I will surely hear from you in the years to come, asking what in the world is going on. But just as surely you will reconcile in your own minds the logic-defying truth of Washington and Lee: it was perfect when you here, even as it gets better with each passing day, each passing year, and each new generation of students.

Come back frequently, and know that while the geographic relationship between you and the university will change, the bonds of friendship will endure and grow even stronger. Think of us often, just as we will continue to think of you.

We wish you well. Godspeed and Good Luck."

-President Kenneth P. Ruscio

-Including fall graduates, the Class of 2008 totaled 438 students, the second largest in W&L's history.

-Graduates completed 40 different majors including three different independent work majors; and a record 29% completed more than one major.

-Students in the class hailed from 38 states, Washington, D.C., and 24 students held citizenship from 16 other countries.

-A record 63% spent time abroad either on approved study abroad or some other significant experience abroad.

"It is our friendships and relationships with one another that have taught us more than any classroom lecture, seminar, or speech that we have encountered has been able to do."
-Jordan Campbell, '08

The sisters of the Zeta Iota Chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta had an amazing year! Former President Liz Williams led the chapter well in 2007, and then passed on her title to Junior Mackenzie Hutton. The new officers are moving into their positions, and already they are embracing leadership opportunities and making a huge impact on our chapter. We're very excited to see what they will do over the next year. And our Thetas aren't just leading in the chapter: what really sets Theta apart is our leadership all over campus. Our members stood out this year in organizations like RUF, Campus Kitchens, Williams Investment Society, Kathekon, ODK, and Peer Counseling. Senior Sara Mueller was the Personnel Chair of Mock Convention, and many other Thetas followed suit, becoming state chairs and joining delegations. Theta stood out on the athletic field, too: All-ODAC, All-Region, and even All-American honors were bestowed on members in sports like field hockey, volleyball, track & field, and soccer. Our Theta lacrosse players led the team to be ranked 5th in DIII during the regular season. And this year we kept up our support for Court Appointed Student Advocates (CASA), our national philanthropy, hosting our annual 5K run with Sigma Chi and Pancake Breakfast with Phi Psi, coordinated by service chairs Emily Deddens and Katie Harris. Even with all of the campus involvement and charity work, Thetas still made sure to live it up. This year, Thetas had a blast at events like our annual formal Twin Stars, Find a Mister for Your Sister, and Pretty in Pink. But what's always best about Theta is the love and support we have for our sisters. We're seeing this now, as the class of 2008 prepares to leave us. We're going to miss them a ton, and the entire chapter wishes them all the best! Good luck!

Thirty years strong, the Lodge pressed ever towards social domination, lurching forward under the steady hand of our fearless leader. Abandoning the big bands for a more country feel, fall term propelled the Lodge to new heights under the lazy eyes of the new and improved highumvirate. Following in the Fire Marshalls footsteps, the Son of Clare Huxtable remained entrenched and the disappointment of Homecoming fizzled out in a noxious vapor. Margaritaville came and went with the tide and swept into a Christmas Weekend Markd by St Nick, the angry elf, and Herschels slim margin of victory

With the end of a hurricane of emotion, winter term brought 12, no 13, no 12, no 11 great guys with the likes of Toe Cwamp, Conjugal Visit, and Rag Time, once again beating the spread but falling just short of the long-established quota The squatters finally got home after a term of uncertainty, but in the end Polenaps great dream met its flaming demise. Mamabear proved to be a homewrecker, bidding Testicules to leave his snaaaaarfs behind before finally falling for a new mistress from the red light district. M&T proved epic, seeing the first international trash can juggle, leaving a very touchy relationship with our neighbors to the northwest that even a gambler wouldnt bet on Taking a lesson from Drunky and Papabear, Papa Ginnea got engaged, though hoping to win a lifetime supply of Nutella in the process After inching out Bukkakus in their fall term clash, Herschel failed once again to deliver the Dallas offense but rode his ballin-style on through the invasion of the Cats to become clown-turned-chef in the greatest comeback story in ages. Toe Cwamp transformed from hunchback to Spartan and after suddenly stumbling upon the miracle cure for mono, Rag Time showed us once again that the third times the charm. By the time FD rolled around, the Fratlord was finally tamed after religiously avoiding graduation, trading swollen knuckles for a spoon

And so the Lodge bids farewell to Captain Underpants, You Get One Free, Lurch, IFTA, Polenap (maybe?), Testicules, Superdork, the A-qui-bler Elf, and Salazar, leaving Underground Railroad behind after the expansive but short-lived flirt with class unity. With the promise of clear skies ahead, the Lodge moves on, eagerly awaiting the return of the lost C. Bucks Mediterranean heir apparent and secure in the knowledge of how wonewy the top can be

THE LENFEST CENTER FOR THE ARTS

Just a year after the opening of Wilson Hall, arts at W&L are as active as ever.

The Music Department sent two groups abroad this Spring Break. "Student ambassadors" from the Wind Ensemble and Chambers Singers performed in Egypt and Turkey. This year, the department also saw the creation of the student-run Audio Production CLub and hosted guest performers from as far as South Africa.

In Theater Department news, this fall witnessed the production of Shakespeare's "Othello," starring guest actor Neil Shah in the lead role. The department also presented the controversial "Father Frances" about a woman mascarading as a Catholic priest. In late May, students perfomrned in "Little Shop of Horrors" directed by Professor Kimberly Jew.

We in the Arts Section had a fantasic time compiling pictures of the exploits of some of Washington and Lee's most talented students.

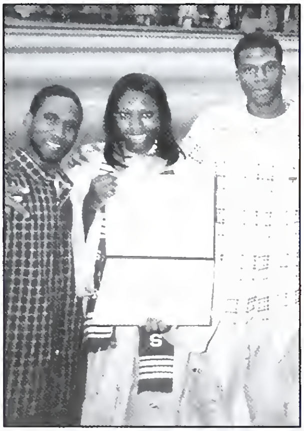
Greg Bienemann



As you stand on the threshold of having your dreams realized, family and friends commend your effort, ambition, and committment toward personal and professional growth. The support and encouragement from the faculty and staff, rigourous courses, and rich traditions of W&L enhanced your critical thinking skills, encouraged a greater sense of communication, and tested your mental and emotional strength. You passed the test with God by your side.

Colophon

The 2008 Calyx, Volume 111, was produced by the student members of the Calyx yearbook staff at Washington & Lee University in Lexington, Virginia. It was created using Jostens Yearbook Avenue Online on a Dell Optiplex PC, and printed by Jostens Publishing at their plant in Winston-Salem, North Carolina. Approximately 2000 digital and print photos are contained in this book of 328 pages, 48 of which are full process color. Over sixteen hundred copies of the book were produced. Executive Editors Amanda Burns and Guinevere Burner received inspiration for the cover from the 1948 Calyx. The cover is custom embossed on Pearl colored Mission Grain with Navy application. The end sheets are Snow White. The fonts used throughout the book are various sizes of University Roman (for headlines) and Garamond (for caption and body text). Portrait photos were taken by Vantine Images.

Questions or concerns about this publication should be addressed to the editors at burnsa@wlu.edu or burnerg@wlu.edu or to the Media Board at hansone@wlu.edu. The Media Board is an independent, student-run editorial oversight committee working with all media outlets on the Washington & Lee campus. All inquiries will remain confidential.

Thank Yous and Acknowledgements

This 111th volume of the Calyx is the result of months of thankless planning, hard work, and dedication. The final product would have never been possible without the significant contributions of others, specifically:

Kevin Remington and Patrick Hinely, professional photographers for the university, for the beautiful photographs which appear throughout this book;

Brian Laubscher, Sports Information Director, for the wonderful season write-ups and all your help with the Sports Section;

Susan Wager, Assistant Director of the Lenfest Center, for providing the materials for the Performing Arts Section;

April Washburn, faculty Advisor to the Calyx, for all your administrative help;

The Business Office, for keeping our account in order;

All the students who tool the time to submit their photos to us;

Jay Hollis, Jana Poplar, and all the people at Jostens for their consistent helpfulness;

You, the reader, for having an interest in our publication and making our time worthwhile.
